PARADE DEMOCRACY

150 Years Call For The Rededication of Constitutional Liberties

By Edward B. Lockett
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4.—(INS)— America proudly paraded its democracy today before the spangles of color of the empires, republics and dictatorships of the world.

One hundred and fifty years of Western Hemisphere freedom called its 1939 heirs together in the semi-circular rows of seats filling the rectangular chamber of the United States House of Representatives, to rededi-cate constitutional liberties to the future, and to commemorate the past.
The Senate and the House met in joint session, to mark the 150th anniversary of the first meeting of the Congress under the Constitution.

President Roosevelt was the speaker of the day. Fresh from U. S. Navy war games in the South Atlantic, he was to keynote celebration, interpreting its present day meaning.

The executive may deal with the history of the nation that he heads.
Or he may speak of significant world events that make increasingly difficult observance of George Washington's admonition against entangling alliances and foreign encumbrances.

At any rate, the world was there to hear him. And the world was there to see and hear a young democracy review its past as a heritage of glory, and look into the future with confidence that freedom in this country is a thing everlasting and impregnable. Diplomats representing foreign governments were accorded a forward seat in the ceremonies.
Their gold braid, decorations and uniforms contrasted sharply with the staid blacks and whites of American formal dress.

Relief Problem Is
A Troublesome One

HARRISBURG, Mar. 4.—(INS)— Pennsylvania's troublesome relief problem today was likened by Speaker of the House Ellwood J. Turner, Delaware County Republican, to a "host of termites gnawing at the foundations" of the state government.

Turner warned that relief represented a condition which ultimately "will wreck the state unless it is corrected," but admitted his inability to suggest a panacea.

"There is no single remedy," he said. "The Governor is determined that the administration of relief shall be non-political, business-like, and efficient. Undoubtedly great savings will be brought about. Many members of the Legislature believe a greater degree of local participation will reduce the total cost."

Encouragement given industry by the James Administration should support the rehiring of large numbers of people, added Turner.

Major problems confronting the administration were described by him as finances, relief and anthracite. He urged that the proposed new Department of Commerce "or some other agency of the state government" be authorized to step in and lead the way toward the recovery of lost coal markets and the development of new outlets.

"Even with enlarged markets and larger uses of coal, the mining regions will still be left with much unemployment," declared Speaker Turner. "The coal industry itself is only one phase of this puzzling problem. . . . All concerned should be planning against the time when supplies of coal in many sections will be exhausted. This is not a matter for the coal regions alone but for the people of the Commonwealth as a whole."

Otto Grupp, Jr., Speaks To Board About Taxes

The Bristol Township school board, in session, Thursday evening, in Maple Shade school, was addressed by Otto Grupp, Jr., on the subject of taxes.

Mrs. Clewell, Fergusonville, presented a petition from a number of residents, asking that high school students be transported to and from high school. The board was unable to comply with the request at present, as the buses now in use are crowded to capacity. The one representing a group of the residents was informed however that next year all high school students will be transported.

A delegation was present from the Men's Bible Class of Emille Methodist Church, permission being asked to lease the unused school building in Emille for church purposes only. This request was granted.

Miss Madeline Miller was engaged as a substitute teacher for the first grade at Edgely school.

LR. MAKEFIELD ZONING ORDINANCE IS PASSED

75 Attend Meeting To Hear Ordinance Read; Vote Is Almost Unanimous

SUPERVISORS MEET

MAKEFIELD, Mar. 4.—The proposed zoning ordinance for Lower Makefield Township was passed with almost a unanimous vote at a meeting of residents of the township, last evening, and passed subsequently at the private meeting of supervisors which followed.

The interesting session, attended by about 75 people, was held in Lower Makefield School on the Yardley-Fallsington Road, with Charles Rowe, member of the zoning committee which represents the supervisors, presiding. Serving as secretary of the meeting was George W. Acocik, of Arborea.

A few changes were made, one change resulting in granting of permission to supervisors to appoint a zoning officer if conditions warrant, the compensation for such to be set by them.

At this final meeting the zoning ordinance was read in its entirety, with a number of questions following regarding restrictions, etc.

One resident in attendance with his attorney, asked that a change be made in the width of lots in the first class residential section, reducing same from 75 to 50 feet. He moved that the ordinance be "thrown out," but there was no second to the motion. A motion was made by another attendant at the session, that the ordinance be

It Was A Rare One

By "The Stroller"
"We saw a rare bird this morning," said the deputy collector of internal revenue when at Bristol post office, yesterday, we paid him our income tax (without the slightest twinge).

Thinking said "rare bird" might be an individual who was anxious to pay his income tax, we stretched our ears a little wider, in order not to miss any of the details.

"Well, it was this way," commented Uncle Sam's agent. "Bill and I were on our way here from Doylestown, when we noticed brilliant red plumage in a tree in a wood-lot. We were so interested we backed the car and took a good look. 'That certainly is a rare bird,' quoth Bill. So I hurried from the machine, and struck off across a field of Spring wheat to get a closer view. But instead of finding some one's pet parrot preening itself, which I thought might be the case, there fluttering in the wind was a bundle of rags, and some of them were bright red.

"I'm still seeing 'red' for I got red mud all over my shoes," he added as he exhibited his "Trilbies."

DR. WAGNER ADDRESSES
THE NEW CENTURY CLUB

Declares It Is Far Cheaper To Pay for Keeping Well, Than For A Cure

AN INFORMATIVE TALK

NEWTOWN, Mar. 4.—A Bristol physician, Dr. J. Fred Wagner, spoke to 40 members and guests of the New Century Club, here, Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Wagner declared it is cheaper to pay a physician to keep one well, than to pay him for bringing about a cure.

Introduced by Miss Sara Packer, chairman of the public health committee, the well known Bristol physician took as the subject of his address "Modern Trends in Medicine." New things, he said, are happening in all phases of life, including the field of medicine. Great strides have been made during the past few years in preventative treatment, especially for the prevention of diphtheria and more recently pneumonia. This, said Dr.
Wagner, was brought about by laboratory developments and serums.

Dr. Wagner told the women that he is not in favor of socialized medicine in one form suggested. He explained that it is too expensive and declared that politics plays a part in it. If worked out properly, he said, it can be a good thing.

The guest speaker also commented briefly on health insurance and the hospitalization plan. Dr. Wagner spoke favorably of the hospitalization plan.
Although he does not feel the plan is perfect, he is of the opinion that it is a step in the right direction. He explained that it does not include the fees of the physicians.

At the close of his address he answered a number of questions. Dr.
Wagner was given a vote of thanks for his excellent address.

The meeting, which was in charge of the president, Miss M. Elizabeth Palmer, opened with the recitation of the Lord's Prayer and the salute to the flag with Mrs. Horace A. Effrig as the leader. Mrs. John C. Goodnoe, the treasurer, gave her monthly report following which Mrs. Barry McNitt was welcomed into membership.

In addition to giving a report of the garden committee, Mrs. John C. Lugar gave details concerning the recent meeting of the Bucks County Association, Committee of 76.

The report of the book section was given by the chairman, Mrs. Marion Hazzard, who announced that the next meeting of the section will be held in Mrs. Harry Horne's apartment in the club building on Tuesday afternoon, March 7, at 2.30 o'clock.

Julian McCreary, director of music at George School, was introduced and he in turn presented Elizabeth Meredith Simons, a George School student, who rendered a piano solo. He also introduced Philip Rulling Thomforde, a George School senior, who rendered two violin solos with Mr. McCreary as his accompanist.

During the business session Miss Palmer appointed Miss Lillian Chew, Mrs. Samuel Crowthers, Mrs. Frank Fabian, Mrs. Charles Hunter, Mrs.
Charles Hunter, Mrs. Budd Lloyd, Mrs. Alfred H. Walton, Mrs. A. Kurtz King and Mrs. Barney Bjarnson to serve on the program committee for 1939-40.

Hostesses were Mrs. William H. Jan-ney and Mrs. George Grisco. The next meeting of the club will be held on March 15, at which time Mrs. Samuel W. Crowthers and Mrs. Lewis W.
Fitzgerald will be hostesses.

not suffering from nausea.

The advocate of self-rule began his fast yesterday in protest against alleged failure of the ruler of Rajkot to institute democratic reforms.

TOSCANINI VISITS THE SITE OF PLAY-HOUSE

Drawings of Bucks County Playhouse To Be Submitted for Approval

HAVE GREAT HOPES

Arturo Toscanini, the famed orchestra conductor, and Helene Gaudin, sculptress, and wife of the internationally known painter, Robert Gau-din, were among the well-known visitors at the site of the Bucks County Playhouse, on the old mill property at New Hope.

With Toscanini's visit, the hope has been expressed that symphony music may be brought to the community through the new theatre.

Drawings of the Bucks County Playhouse, to be built in New Hope Mill, were ready this week for submission to the Department of Labor and Industry at Harrisburg for approval. After the State has approved the plans, specifications will be drawn up and bids for the work invited.

The co-operation worked under some difficulty, according to Donald Walker, vice-president, because the architect, Donald Hedges, of New Hope, was down with influenza during the early part of the week and the theatre designer, Edwin Shruers, of New York, was in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia recovering from an operation for acute appendicitis.

The plans call for a number of novel features, including a raised orchestra box at one side of the front of the auditorium. This will permit full use of the floor space of the present mill building for seats, and facilitate the location of exits required by law, and made somewhat hard to design by the peculiar location of the building, which projects across its own millrace into a small island in Aquetong Creek.
Alternate plans for seating arrangements for the first year, calling for anywhere from 292 seats to 376 seats will be submitted to Harrisburg. Every effort is being made to preserve the charming character of the present mill building.

An attempt will be made to use the heavy timbering taken from the interior in building the entrance porch, and the stage house, which promises to tower above the original structure, will be given a hip roof to match the older part.

Find Body of Aged Man On Creek Bank, Near Sellersville

SELLERSVILLE, Mar. 4.—The body of an aged man, found on the bank of the Branch creek, near here, was identified as Leonard Machnich, of near Perkasie, yesterday.

The man was sixty-nine years old, and lived at the home of Mrs. Wanda Ratsin, in East Rockhill township, about a mile and one-half east of Perkasie.

According to Mrs. Ratsin, the man had been in ill health, and threatened to commit suicide. He disappeared on December 10, and had not been heard from since. From the condition of the body, it is indicated that he had been dead for something longer than a week. Whether or not it is possible that he could have died on December 10 has not been determined.

The body was discovered on the farm of Francis Haring, located two miles west of Sellersville, on the Branch Valley road. The spot is about half a mile upstream from the Deutschhorst Country Club.

CURLS IN THE GYM

The up-do won't do, is the ukase of several directors of athletics for women who deplore the popularity of the newest hair styles because they cut down gymnasium activities. But whether or not the girls will let their gym work interfere with respect for woman's crowning glory is quite another story. In fact, the evidence is that they will not. Gym work is grand and all that, but after all every girl knows she has an important duty to herself and the world, and that is to be as beautiful as possible.

The new hair fixes just won't mix with work on the leather horses and parallel bars, with basketball and swimming; all these and showers too, are boycotted by girls who aim to protect their dearly-bought curls. In fact, the evidence is that they will not. Gym work is grand and all that, but after all every girl knows she has an important duty to herself and the world, and that is to be as beautiful as possible.

But another director in the same field, expresses optimism. She says: "Nothing is ever so black as painted, and there is much to be said for swinging music and dance which provides plenty of exercise; she finds dance classes growing while gym classes dwindle. But so long as opportunity for exercise is provided what's the difference, says another woman athletic leader.

You can't expect a girl to show much interest in a strenuous sports event when she has to stop every few minutes to tuck up a curl. Exercise is important, so is sportsmanship and athletic contest.

But so, too, is a curl.

CHEER UP, FAT MEN!

It is the theory of some of us who run naturally to girth that the fat man comes to an early grave, if he does, not primarily by reason of his fat but because he is scared to death.

Beside the burden of flesh his frame must bear, his spirit is bent beneath a large body of medical opinion which sees a short, however merry life for the fat man. The twin load is too much.

Now, in Boston, a Dr. Arthur Cushing raises a voice in defense of fat—not too much, but some. Primarily he speaks against excessive dieting as entailed with hazards as grave or worse than a tendency to put on pounds. He goes on to say:

"A certain amount of fat is an anchor to windward against disease." Under this dictum a slight bulge around the waistline is allowed the citizen in his middle years. It is something to draw on if illness lays him low, and he must carry on for a time on his own resources, like the hibernating bear.

These are words of cheer and a layman would think—of wisdom to those whose gluttonous setup converts more of their food to flesh than does the gaunt brother's. What excessive dieting does to women is too well recognized to dwell upon. The land is full of once-bouncing belles who have whittled themselves down to shadows of what they were, at the expense of health and temper. These caricatures of people have kept many a male from falling into the same error. Now the comforting words of Dr. Cushing will confirm him in his present way. Pass the potatoes.

Technicolor does odd things to complexions—some showing up like rose petals others as if the actor had tried on an old skin he found in a trunk.

Behind the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

Copyright, 1939

King Features Syndicate, Inc.

HOLLYWOOD—With his fortune, Al Jolson doesn't have to work, and he could have made it tough on Twentieth Century-Fox the other day on walking out on

"Rose of Washington Square"

when a word came that the star's father had suffered a heart attack in the east. But

Jolson proved

what, of course, was proved so many years ago

—that he is a trouper. He put his brother, Harry Jolson, on a plane and went back before the camera . . . spent the whole day singing songs, though his heart was far away . . . with a sick old man.

If Nancy Kelly isn't pining away for Edmund O'Brien, the Broadway actor, she is giving a great imitation of it. She even knows the exact number of words in his night letters. The last one contained 93.

Grim coincidence, what happened the other day on the "Pen-house" set at M-G-M. It was Director Ed Marin's birthday and the company had chipped in to buy him a portable radio. Walter Pidgeon was chosen to make the speech of presentation. Everyone was in a gay mood and Pidgeon's speech was in this vein:

Finishing, he handed the radio to Marin, who switched it on to sample its tone.

The first words coming through the speaker were a news flash telling the death of Pat Roark, famous polo player and Pidgeon's close friend.

Miracles sometimes happen in Hollywood. A year ago, Marjorie Deane was chosen "Miss Southwest Texas" and came to the coast to try to crash the movies. She had the usual luck of beauty contest winners and eventually got a job as usherette at the Grauman's Egyptian theater. Several days ago, pursuing her regular duties,

Marjorie ushered a man to a seat.

It was Director John Farrow.

He decided Marjorie was a screen type and today she is playing a role in R-K-O's picture, "Sorority House."

Like Paul Muni, Akim Tamiroff concentrates on living the roles that he plays on the screen.

Tamiroff impersonates Napoleon in "The Magnificent Fraud" and was working at it so seriously the other day that Director Robert

Conyers

Florey gave him a playful poke.

Tamiroff jumped nervously.

"What's the matter, Akim?"

asked Florey. "I didn't know you were ticklish."

"I'm not," snapped Tamiroff,

"but Napoleon was."

A lot has been written about Spencer Tracy's objections to "I Take This Woman," but nobody has asked Tracy. Here is his own version, given me on the "Stanley and Livingstone" set.

"I never liked the story," he said, "and I didn't want to make the picture. But they told me I was wrong, so I went ahead.

"Now, I understand they are trying to write me out of the new version and I hope they are. However, if I'm told to finish the picture, I'll have to do it."

Spencer says there's not a word of truth to the rumors that he didn't want to work with Hedy Lamarr. "I'd like to make some other story with her," he said. "In fact, I think it might be a good combination."

Allan Curtis and his manager, Bob Loewy, are back in town after a harrowing experience in a sandstorm near India. The top of Curtis' car was riddled, all the paint was ground off and the engine was clogged with sand. The two men had to leave the car and fight their way to a main highway, where they thumbed a ride to the nearest town.

Bonita Granville is another good advertisement for the studio schoolmarm. She finishes high school this semester a year ahead of the average youngster. . . .

Oddest combination of the week:

Polly Moran

and Designer

Orry Kelly at the Club Ball.

. . . . At Mar-

cull's a trio that also drew

stares: Marlene

Dietrich, Leslie

Howard and

Helen Jackson.

. . . Other two-somes about the town: Margaret

Lindsay with

Eddie Norris at

Cafe Lamaze, Arleen Whelan with

Alex D'Arcy at The Tropics, and

Rosemary Lane with Tom Mc-Avitt at the Club Versailles. . . .

Anita Louise achieved such a piercing scream for "The Gorilla" that Twentieth Century-Fox will preserve it in their film library. . . .

Mickey Rooney doesn't know it yet, but Mary Melrose Gardiner, of San Francisco, read about his playing in "Huckleberry Finn" and has sent him a Mark Twain autograph.

It's genuine, for she got it herself in 1885.

IMAGINARY INTERVIEW WITH WEALTHY J. WELLINGTON WHOOSH

"To what do you attribute your success?" we asked the great industrialist, J. Wellington Whoosh, as he paused in the process of endowing another college and a couple of art museums. He smiled reminiscently.

"I worked hard, banked my money, and always read the advertisements!"

Far-fetched? Of course. But it's a good-humored way of calling your attention to a serious fact: Intelligent reading of the advertising pages will save you time and money.

Here the best stores offer you their best values. Here they announce special sales and clearances. Shop here first.

Then you'll know exactly what you want, what it costs, and where it can be found. You can go and get it without wandering wearily through miles of aisles—and with the comforting assurance that every dollar is doing extra duty.

ON THE SCREENS

The outstanding musical treat of the new movie season comes to the Grand Theatre, Sunday and Monday, with the fifth co-starring appearance of Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in "Sweethearts," filmization of the noted Victor Herbert operetta and marking the first appearance of the popular singing team in a Technicolor production.

The new picture also marks a departure upon the part of Miss MacDonald and Eddy from such of their previous triumphs as "Naughty Marietta," "Maytime" and "Girl of the Golden West," in being a modern comedy, the screen play having been adapted from the Herbert operetta by the famed comedy writers, Dorothy Parker and Alan Campbell.

W. S. Van Dyke II and Hunt Stromberg, respective director and producer of "Naughty Marietta," again joined forces on the filmization of "Sweethearts," which boasts a supporting cast of such distinguished stage and screen headliners as Frank Morgan, Ray Bolger, Florence Rice, Mischa Auer, Herman Bing, Reginald Gardiner, Fay Holden, Allyn Joslyn, Olin Howland, Lucille Watson, Gene and Kathleen Lockhart, Bertou Churchill and little Terry Kilburn, boy star of "Lord Jeff."

BRISTOL

The racket of wildcat transportation—the carrying of passengers without legal license—is exposed in Republic's adventure-drama, "Federal Man Hunt," which comes today to the Bristol Theatre.

Robert Livingston, June Travis, Ben Welden, Horace McMahon, Jerry Tucker, and John Gailaudet have leading roles in this Republic film.

Fast action melodrama and a new comedy discovery mark "The Long Shot," Grand National thriller at the Bristol Theatre today. Credit for the speedy action must be divided between the authors, Harry Beresford and George Callaghan, and the director, Charles Lamont, with the latter so spacing his racing scenes and dramatic interludes as to keep the story moving from the very start.

The slap-happy Reardon of "There's Always a Woman" scampers into town Sunday in the cinematic sequel to their first screen comedy opus. The reception committee that will pack the Bristol Theatre to greet the prodigious sleuthing couple in "There's That Woman Again" will rock with laughter, roll in the aisles, hang from the rafters and otherwise make known their delicious delight.

RITZ THEATRE, CROYDON

An inspired piece of casting placed Dick Foran, big-red-headed outdoor actor at the head of the cast of the Technicolor special, "Heart of the North," which comes to the Ritz Theatre Sunday.

Of all the screen's current heroes, Foran seems to be the best suited to playing a Royal Canadian "mountie" in this thrilling epic of the Great Northwest. His fellow "mounties" include Allen Jenkins, Patric Knowles, James Stephenson, and many others while the villain roles are capably filled by Joseph King, Anthony Averill and Joe Sawyer. Feminine interest is plentifully supplied by Gloria Dickson, Gale Page and six-year-old Janet Chapman.

"The Dawn Patrol," Warners' new aviation story, is showing today at the Grand Theatre. A full-bodied action drama—it marks the return of Errol Flynn to the adventurous type of role which made him famous.

"The Dawn Patrol" is a story of British wartime aviation, a moving and exciting compound of the pitiful, heedless gallantry of youth and the calmer courage of maturity. It relates the typical history of a squadron of the British Royal Flying Corps during a few fateful months of 1915—a period when the average life of combat pilots over the western front was only four-and-one-half flying hours. It was a time when raw and hastily trained recruits were, in a constant, deadly chain, sent forth to almost certain death as soon as they reported for service.

HIGH SCHOOL CLOSES WITH 14TH STRAIGHT WIN

Bill Gallagher ran wild last night in the first period to hit the cords for four double-deckers and all eight points the varsity scored in that session, which enabled Coach Steve Juenger's proteges to hang up their 14th consecutive victory in closing their most successful season a local team ever enjoyed on the court. For the triumph not only marked their 14th win in a row, but it was their 18th in 19 games played during the season they just closed. This gave them a final winning percentage of .947.

But they had to put on a last period rally to emerge the victor in a tilt that was fast, closely contested, and interesting all the way. However, the Cards came up with the verdict over their former mates by a count of 24-20.

BRISTOL SEXTET ENDS UNDEFEATED SEASON

A big first half lead was too much for Bristol High's Alumnae sextet to overcome through the last 16 minutes of play, and they thus were handed a 20-15 setback by the varsity club, who, consequently, completed their 1938 campaign undefeated, having won 11 games and tied one in 12 starts.

FASHION PARADE

By Orry-Kelly
(Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—Mentally and physically American designers are coming home. After whizzing around a war-torn globe in search of new trends they have at last settled down to studying the United States and her possessions. The result is a more interesting season than has confronted the feminine world in many moons.

From the Hawaiian Islands comes the inspiration for flying fish and miniature pineapple jewelry, for streamline and belted-in versions of the Mother Hubbard that missionaries introduced for the native girls, for floral leis, bizarre prints and abbreviated beach clothes. The Mother Hubbard dress is similar to the monastic silhouette except that fullness in this case falls from a square yoke. Lola Lane will wear one in "Fly Away Home." It is made of sand-colored wool jersey and the fullness is caught at the waistline with a wide brown suede belt having Hawaiian cut-out detail.

From Alaska come those fur-edged evening hoods that are unexpectedly carrying on into spring. Many Hollywood girls automatically have one made of self-fabric with each new evening dress they add to their wardrobes.

From our dependency, the Philippines, there are such fashion notes as tattoo prints which follow the tattoo designs with which natives adorn their bodies, bright night-cap turbans, skirts with fullness massed in back, boleros with back openings, stripes and heavy barbaric looking jewelry.

Indian, cowboy and Mexican desert fashions suggested in the parade for several seasons are set for a real boom this spring. Solid headwork is the biggest Indian contribution, showing up in belts, bags, moccasins and a kind of jewelry. Gloria Dickson is interested in this novel jewelry, carrying out her costume colors in solid beaded bands worn as bracelets and neckbands.

The cowboy trend continues in elaborate weather work, prints and play clothes. The Mexican influence is most revealing in footwear and millinery.

So now we can look for fashions in our own back yard.
